

AL BLESCH

PROJECT DIRECTOR • FACILITATOR • SPEAKER

Al Blesch is a dynamic, sought-after speaker and educator who knows how to captivate an audience. He has been a keynote speaker at international, national, and local conferences and has presented hundreds of workshops throughout North America. His down-to-earth speaking style, inspirational stories, and practical strategies appeal to audiences worldwide.

Al is currently a Project Director and Master Facilitator with the Pacific Institute. Prior to his taking this post in 2002, Al was Superintendent of Catholic Schools in Vancouver, British Columbia, Canada, a position he held for 25 years. During his term of office, the school system of 15,000 students expanded by adding 12 new elementary and 3 new high schools. Prior to being Superintendent, Al was a successful high school principal and football coach, winning six provincial championships.

Al has served as president of the Federation of Independent Schools Association of British Columbia and was a driving force behind government funding for the Independent Schools in B.C. Among the awards he received was an award presented in 2002 from the Province of British Columbia in recognition of Service and Outstanding Commitment to Education in British Columbia.

Since 1976, Al has combined the principles of The Pacific Institute and his experience and knowledge to assist organizations and their people reach their goals in the areas of education, management, safety, leadership, personal development and adapting to change.
